Blessing and Loving Little Children like Jesus Did

Christ loving little children and blessing them is recorded by Matthew, Mark, and Luke in the gospel accounts. (Mt. 19:13-15; Mk. 10:13-16; Lk. 18:15-17) Jesus was one who loved children and brought them to Himself so that He could bless them. In putting His hands on them, He was simply giving them a blessing as is referred to elsewhere in scripture. (Gen. 48:14; Mt. 9:18) In Jesus wanting the little children to come to Him, He is showing that the lives of children are very important and need to be blessed. Jesus not only blessed the children, he blessed the poor and the common people as well. We'll notice that in the weeks to come.

For this week, let us strive to be more like Jesus by Imitating Him in blessing the life of a child through loving them and caring for them. Let us give a child a good experience in the week before us like Jesus did to the children of His day. God bless you. I love you.

Kevin

The Power of Love

A six-year-old girl became deathly ill and needed a blood transfusion. When her rare blood type complicated the problem, her nine-year-old brother was tested as a donor. Though he qualified, everyone was hesitant to ask him because of his age. When no other donor was found, they talked to him about it. He didn't understand all that they were saying, but said, "Sure, I'll give my blood for my sister." When the transfusion began, he took the needle in his arm, closed his eyes and lay silently on the bed. After it was completed, the doctors thanked the brother for saving his sister's life. The brave little boy began to cry. He asked, "Doctor, when do I die?" The doctor understood the magnitude of what this boy had done and quickly reassuring him that he would not die. "Why were you willing to risk your life for her?" He said, simply, "Because she is my sister...and I love her." "Let brotherly love continue."
