Following Christ Produces Fishers of Men

Think with me about Jesus calling the first four to follow Him. (Mt. 4:18-22; Mk. 1:16-20; Lk. 5:1-11) These four men – Peter, Andrew, James, and John – were fishermen by trade. Jesus called them to follow Him in order to make them become fishers of men like Him. As they spent time with Jesus and learned from Him, He trained them to go forth as fishers of men.

As we strive to Imitate Him in 2010, truly giving ourselves to become more like Christ, we will become more and more interested in the spiritual condition of those around us so that we become fishers of men. Like fishermen, we'll catch some and some will get away. However we don't give up. Just as a fisherman keeps casting his line in the water with the bait, we each keep on fishing for the souls of people like Jesus did as we become more like Him striving to catch them for the Master. We do so by sharing the gospel of Jesus that has the power to save everyone who believes. (Rom. 1:16) Everywhere we go, like the disciples of Christ we read about in Acts 8:4, we preach the word as we fish for others who need Jesus as their Savior.

Imitating Him in 2010 will mean becoming an "It is written" people who share the written word of the gospel as we become His fishers of men in the world today. May God bless each of us to this end. I love you.

Kevin
