Praising God Forever Before His Throne

Welcome to Homecoming 2009! Giving worship to God on a Homecoming Sunday like this reminds me of the passage in Revelation 22:1-5 where God's servants of all ages are described as serving Him reigning forever and ever before His throne and the throne of the Lamb. I can't wait for the Lord's return so that I can participate in this eternal praise of God! How about you? I challenge you to think on that eternal homecoming that awaits us all in heaven as a result of God's grace, love, and mercy and our faith in the Lord Jesus Christ as described in Ephesians 2:1-10.

We are thankful to have Jeff Adcock of the Mars Hill congregation with us today teaching and preaching God's word. Be sure and stay for the fellowship and meal following the morning worship. I also want to encourage you to come back and worship with us this evening. Then stay and discuss the Daily Bible readings we are sharing together as well.

As we all go forth throughout each day of this week, may we let our light shine before others to the glory of our Father in heaven. As we enjoy the changing of the seasons once again here in middle Tennessee, may we reflect upon the beauty of God's creation remembering how He upholds all things by the word of His power. (Heb. 1:3) God bless you. I love you.

Kevin

Much Rejoicing

There was much rejoicing last Sunday morning as Richard Thomason responded to the Lord's invitation for God's forgiveness and the prayers of the church. May we all continue to pray for Richard and encourage him as he goes forth in God's forgiveness and lives for the Lord each day. He and Juanita live at 3217 Madison Ave., 37130, and their phone number is 494-9511.

Requesting Your View

Because of grape juice stains to the carpet in the auditorium a suggestion has been made to change from red grape juice to white grape juice. Please give your view concerning this change to any one of our elders: David Henry, Mike Howard or Danny Thomason.
